WORLD DAY AGAINST CHILD LABOUR

12 JUNE, 2023

AWARENESS CAMPAIGN ORGANIZED BY OVN IN COLLABORATION WITH DISTRICT POLICE OFFICE RUPANDEHI

The campaign organized by OVN was a collaborative effort involving multiple stakeholders, including NGOs, dedicated police personnel, and municipality officials. Together, the aim was to raise awareness and gain insights into the status of child labour in the community, with the ultimate goal of combating this issue.

During the campaign, OVN prioritized education and knowledge dissemination. The organization ensured that people were well-informed about the risks and severe consequences associated with child labor. By empowering individuals with knowledge, OVN aimed to foster a sense of responsibility and encourage them to take action against child labour.

In addition to raising awareness, OVN's teams actively identified suspicious cases of child labour in local establishments. Upon discovering such cases, immediate action was taken, engaging with shop and restaurant owners to ensure that no children were employed or coerced into any form of labour. This proactive approach aimed to create a safe environment for children, enabling them to grow, learn, and thrive without exploitation.

The success of the campaign was attributed to the support and cooperation received from various stakeholders. The local community, NGOs, police, and municipality officials all played crucial roles in the initiative. Their involvement demonstrated a shared commitment to protecting the rights of every child and eradicating child labour.

"UNITING VOICES AND CREATIVITY: POKHARA & KATHMANDU TEAM'S ARTISTIC STAND AGAINST CHILD LABOUR"

Meanwhile, in Pokhara and Kathmandu, our teams organized a small in-house program on World Day against Child Labour. It was a wonderful initiative where our fellow employees gathered together to discuss the pressing issues surrounding child labour. The program provided a safe space for open discussions, allowing us to share our concerns, personal experiences, and ideas for potential solutions. It was truly inspiring to witness everyone's active participation and commitment to raising awareness about this important cause. During the event, we engaged in creating powerful artwork that conveyed our sentiments and messages against child labor. This collaborative effort not only generated awareness but also fostered a sense of unity among all participants, fueling our determination to combat this global issue. The program served as a powerful reminder of our collective responsibility to protect the rights and well-being of every child, leaving us inspired to take further action in eradicating child labour from society.

WORLD Day
Against Child Labour

The fight against child labour requires a collective effort and unwavering commitment from individuals, organizations, and communities. It is a pressing issue that robs children of their childhood, education, and future opportunities. Initiatives like the one organized by Opportunity Village Nepal (OVN) in Bhairahawa, Pokhara and Kathmandu are crucial in raising awareness, identifying cases of child labour, and taking proactive measures to ensure the safety and well-being of children. By working together, we can create a society where child labour is eradicated, and every child is afforded the chance to grow, learn, and thrive. It is our responsibility to protect the rights of children, promote education, and strive for economic and social justice, thus building a brighter future for generations to come.
